

TO THE MAN WHO THINKS.

LOOK yourself squarely in the face and see if you are not half ashamed to be without Ivory Soap in your house. Worse than this, your wife is without it. It is bad enough for a man, though a man often doesn't care how his comfort is mis-spelled. But a woman misses all these little helps to housekeeping. And Ivory Soap is one; its great potency makes it actually cheaper than yellow soap for general work. It floats.

Dog-Catcher Steely Pleased With His Job.

A Hot Time In "Hell's Half Acre" Tuesday Night.

"Eighty-three dollars and twenty-five cents in nineteen days. Good wages, eh?"

Dog-Catcher Steely was bubbling over with good humor and contentment, when he got on a South Main st. car, in front of No. 4 engine house, Wednesday morning and asked the question of a Democrat reporter.

"Wouldn't trade jobs with a City Commissioner," continued the K-I-Y exterminator. "Oh, no, I know a good thing when I've got it! I yanked in eight dogs last night."

"You'll soon be starting a bank account," suggested the reporter, where at Steely drew from his coat pocket a book labeled "Akron Savings & Trust Co." and containing data to the effect that Chas. Steely had deposited $38.

A VERY WARM TIME.

"I'd a dickens of a time Tuesday night," remarked the dog-catcher, "Got into an awful mix-up in 'Hell's Half Acre.' I caught a couple of dogs, and was gettin' away with them when three fellows jumped me. One of them hit me a blister of a blow on the back, and I kicked one of the lubbers half across the lot, then drew my revolver."

"Did the dogs get away?"

"Not one poodle of them. I hung onto 'em like grim death. I don't know who the fellows were, but will find out when they come for the dogs."

"Oh, yes, I like the job well."

"MERE DOGGEREL."

A Chicago College Professor Has a Poor Opinion of Church Hymns and Sunday School Literature.

Chicago, July 18.—(Sp.)—Prof. Oscar L. Triggs of Chicago university, who some time ago compared John D. Rockefeller to William Shakespeare, yesterday informed the class in English literature at the university that the hymns of the Protestant churches are doggerel and that dime novels are literature when compared to Sunday school books.

Prof. Triggs had been asked by a member of the class whether orthodox people could read Walt Whitman.

"I take it for granted," replied the professor, "that there is not a member of this class who does not hold heterodox views. If you did not you would not be here, since the study of literature has no place in the education of an orthodox person. You can find little poetry that isn't unorthodox. Of course there is a vast deal of songs and hymns, but no poetry. The great bulk of church hymns is mere doggerel, pure and simple. Take Watts for example. "In the same connection can be named the Sunday school books. The dime novel is preferable to the average Sunday school story, because the dime novel may become literature while the Sunday school book never can hope to be."

Prof. Triggs later said that college professors and students could enjoy poetry and fiction because they were half pagan.

"Our whole modern civilization is a mixture of Christianity and paganism," he said, "and the Christian spirit by no means dominates. This fact was recently shown by the conduct of the so-called Christian nations in China."

"It is well for our civilization that it is thus blended of pagan and Christian ideas. It makes a better and stronger civilization. It would not be well if all men were Christians."

Hot Weather

a Boon to the Men Who Sell Collars.

"The hot weather is a boon to laundries," said the man behind the men's furnishings counter of an Akron store Wednesday. "Incidentally it is a good thing for ourselves. We sell more collars, for instance, in one week of hot weather than in two weeks when cold winds or a frosty atmosphere keep humanity cool. Often men come in and buy a single collar for a change on the spot. They may have—probably do have loads of clean collars at home, but have not time to go after one. Then, again, some people come in to buy lower collars for an especially hot day than they wear ordinarily. The wearing of shirtwaists, too, is a boon to the collar business, all along the line. A shirtwaist absolutely demands a clean collar, while when it is practically concealed by a coat, a slightly soiled collar does not look so untidy. Stocks? Yes, some young fellows are wearing them—more than ever before."

EXPLAINS

The Salary Question.

Why Mechanical Engineer Gets More

Than Chief of the Fire Department.

Mr. McMillen Believes the Chief's Salary Is High Enough.

Since the squabble over the Fire department, City Commissioner O. L. McMillen was asked if he believed it consistent to pay a subordinate officer in the department more than its chief. Reference was made to the chief's receiving $1,000 a year, while the mechanical engineer is paid $1,500.

In replying, Mr. McMillen said: "I think it is all right. It requires very little special training to fit a man for the position of chief, while the mechanical engineer, to become competent, must take a special and expensive course. It is only after long and careful experience that he can equip himself sufficiently to hold the position he does. Then, again, the services of the mechanical engineer are not given wholly to the Fire Department. He may be called into the performance of any mechanical engineering the city may need."

Considerable talk has been heard lately with reference to this subject. Some claim that the salary of the chief should be higher than that of any other person, and to explain why it is not was the object of Mr. McMillen's talk. He says, however, that the chief should receive more than he does now, but that an increase cannot be given under the present condition of city finances.

CASH WANTED.

W. R. A. Is In Need of Funds.

Money Must be Had to Keep the School Going.

The plan to raise a $100,000 endowment fund for Western Reserve Academy at Hudson has been abandoned, for the present at least, but funds for the coming year are now being collected. Subscriptions of from $5 upward have been subscribed.

The fall term opens Sept. 12, and the outlook for a large attendance is good. For the past four years the school has been conducted under the co-principals of Messrs. Clay Herick and Charles T. Hickok, but during the coming year the entire management will be under the control of Dr. Hickok. The corps of instructors will be the same as last year, with the exception of Mr. Herick, who is now connected with the Cleveland Trust company. Prof. H. O. Sluss, who has been teaching in the institution for the past six years, will be assistant principal.

You can never cure dyspepsia by dieting. What your body needs is plenty of good food properly digested. Then if your stomach will not digest it, Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will. It contains all of the natural digestants, hence must digest every class of food and so prepare it that nature can use it in nourishing the body and replacing the wasted tissues, thus giving life, health, strength, ambition pure blood and good healthy appetite.

THREE HORSES

Will Sometime Draw Fire Engines.

The City Commissioners have authorized the purchase of a three-horse "hitch" for engine house No. 1. It will cost $125. It can be used on any truck or engine.

OPINIONS

Are Not Wanted at Creston—Correspondent Advises Editor.

A correspondent from Creston, says that "Mr. F. M. Sulliger has assumed control of the Creston Journal. The initial number, under the new management, is creditable in make-up and gives a goodly batch of local happenings. If the new editor avoids the reefs into which his predecessors run the craft, he will find room at sea, and even the adverse winds may blow him some good. After all, a man's business is worth more to him than the opinions he may try to force upon those who are joined to their idols. 'Persuade a man,' etc., is a theorem worth remembering."

The Elephant

CONVICT

Borrowed to Open a Safe.

The Press-Post Receivership Still Continues.

Columbus, O., July 18.—Judge Hidy, the presiding judge of this district, last night declined to allow the motion of Clarence M. Jones, president of the Press-Post Co. for the removal of the receiver appointed last Saturday. The only course left to Jones is to appeal to the circuit court, which will be done. The court does not meet until September, but it is possible that a single judge, or two judges, may be induced to look into the case before that time.

The receiver, L. P. Stephens, this evening had the safe opened. The combination had been refused him and he called upon Warden Darby of the Ohio penitentiary for assistance. The warden let him have the services of Dick Murphy, one of the most famous safe blowers in the country. Murphy went through the safe in less than half an hour, drilling through the lock and opening the doors without difficulty. Clarence Jones objected vigorously to the operation and tried to induce the city police to interfere.

The redoubtable Murphy, who has probably blown open more safes than any other living man, put the brace on the combination, turned the lever a few times and off fell the combination. The steel bar, however, was defective and broke at the wrong place, or the safe would have been open then and there. As it was, it was necessary to drill through the door and cut the bar, and, braced by Warden Darby's son, drilled through the massive steel front. He made a marvelously quick job of it. The other expert declared that he was an inch away from the lock, but, when the drill struck the other side of the steel plate, Murphy threw the handles around and the tumblers fell down. The combination was broken.

In safes of this kind the mere severing of the lock bar does not open the safe. Murphy called attention to this. "I can blow it the rest of the way," he said, "or you can tilt the safe up on one side and the doors will come open."

The receiver did not want to wreck the safe and it was therefore, with the assistance of half a dozen men, tilted up and opened.

The employees of the company had already been paid their salaries.

Dr. Geo. Ewing, a practicing physician of Smith's Grove, Ky., for over thirty years, writes his personal experience with Foley's Kidney Cure. "For years I have been greatly bothered with kidney trouble and enlarged prostate gland. I used everything known to the profession without relief, until I was induced to use Foley's Kidney Cure. After using three bottles I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles, for I can honestly state I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success."

Miss Strong's Funeral.

The remains of Miss Mabel Strong, formerly a Cleveland belle, who died in St. Luke's hospital, New York, of consumption, were interred at Forest cemetery in Fredericktown, O., Wednesday. Miss Strong lived in Fredericktown a number of years, while there making her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Susannah Strong.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only cure on catarrh on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 76c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.
